VOL. 7.

RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA, TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 19, 1877.

NO. 98.

STATE NEWS.

Judge Cole, of Eureka, on Saturday, fined Crittenden Thornton $50 and committed him to jail for 12 hours, for contempt of Court.

A. & J. Bawden, of Virginia City, have made arrangements for a grand wrestling tournament at that place the first week in July.

It is said that Governor Bradley is having a fine time on the Owyhee river, fishing, hunting, etc.

The Odd Fellows of Tuscarora have formed an association, and intend, after awhile, applying for a charter; also, they will build a hall.

Lunkton is the name of a growing town over in the Tuscarora county. The Review thinks it may rival the main town of that section one of these days.

The late statutes of Nevada require all county and township officers who come under the head of "Fee Officers," to report to the Board of County Commissioners quarterly the amount of fees received from all sources in their various offices. This law includes Sheriffs, County Clerks, County Recorders, County Surveyors, Justices of the Peace and Constables of the several townships, and all officers who receive fees. The neglect to furnish such report lays the officer so neglecting to perform such duty liable to indictment by the Grand Jury, and subjects him to a fine on conviction not to exceed $1,000.

Professor W. F. Stewart concluded his visit of inspection and took his departure from Tuscarora camp last Friday, says the Times. He gives it as his honest opinion that this is the richest mineral district in the State, outside of the Comstock, and says it would not astonish him if it eventually went ahead of that district. During the time he has been here ample opportunity has been afforded him to thoroughly examine the geological structure of the country, and he takes away with him specimens of most of the various rocks and ores peculiar to this district.

The Independent states that the bonds issued by the Elko School District for the purpose of erecting a new school house have been negotiated, and the contract for the building awarded. The ground upon which it is to be located was donated by the railroad company, and the work of construction will begin at once. It is expected to have the building ready for occupation by the first of September.

Carlin has made up her mind to celebrate the 101st anniversary of our independence, and for this purpose extensive preparations have been made.

The Messenger says that the stage-line between Battle Mountain and Tuscarora is to be increased to a daily, under the proprietorship of Chas. Haines, a wide-awake stage man.

Negotiations have been opened with Colonel Bob Ingersoll, looking to his delivering his course of lectures in Eureka.

THE NEVADA PRESS.

Views and Opinions Upon Current Topics and Events.

"THE LABORER IS WORTHY OF HIS HIRE."

It is an established principle, at least in this country, that he who renders service should receive an equivalent compensation therefor. This principle, says the Tuscarora Times, is applicable to the followers of every calling which requires brain or muscle in the performance of its functions, and a disregard of it will inevitably result in a disarrangement of those harmonious relations which should always exist between the employer and employee. In every case where this natural relation is disturbed, the suffering which is thereby entailed falls upon that class least able to bear it. The relations between capital and labor are so closely interwoven that neither can afford to encroach upon the clearly recognized rights of the other. The line of demarcation is sharply defined; the boundaries, so to speak, are laid down with unerring accuracy, and when either party to a contract breaks faith and violates the fundamental principle of which we speak, confusion is as certain to arise as that darkness will come upon the earth when the sun and stars refuse to shed their light. "The laborer is worthy of his hire." The miner, who takes his life in his hand and gropes through the mysterious recesses of the earth in search of hidden treasures; the printer, who toils by day and by night at his enervating and exhausting occupation, that intelligence may spread throughout the world; the physician, who is ever ready to answer the call of his suffering fellow men and interpose his skill to save human life or soften the pangs of dissolution; all in fact, who, listening to the teachings of history and tradition work for the advancement of the public good, should be honestly paid according to the measure of their services, and any attempt from whatever source, to rob them of their just reward should meet with a prompt rebuke.

THE PRESS AGENT.

The Elko Post thinks the Associated Press agent goes by streaks. One week it is Jim Blaine; next, Jones or Smith; the following still, old cock-eyed Ben Butler. First, he was going to Colorado to raise sheep, pull the wool over the voters' eyes and slip into the United States Senate. Of course, this was likely to make Massachusetts weep, and it couldn't be thought of. Then he is out in a letter to Marshal Pitkin, sarcastic in the extreme. He says next that if Hayes will only follow the Republicans that gentleman will be all right. This supposedly means, Republicanism as expounded by his honorable (?) self. The prophecy is very encouraging when it is remembered that fully two-thirds of the people of the United States look with great disfavor on the illustrations Ben. Well venture on a prophecy, too. If the Republicans of the next session of Congress suffer themselves to be led by the nose, by any Ben Butlers, against President Hayes, while every thing is running as smoothly as at present and public sentiment is the same as it is now, there will be about enough Republicans left to attend to the details of their own party's funeral.

ILLEGAL FISHING.

The San Francisco Alta states that it is informed by reliable parties that a terrible destruction of fish is going on at Lake Tahoe. Especially at or near Pigeon Point, where hundreds of pounds are daily caught in traps, and sent to Virginia City and Sacramento. As that end of the Lake is in California, and the Game and Fish Law expressly prohibits the use of traps, the parties thus violating the law are, of course, amenable. It behooves the proper authorities to take heed of this wanton destruction of fish, if the Lake is to be an attraction to strangers and people seeking the mountains for fresh air and fishing. A Game and Fish Law was recently passed in Nevada, which probably forbids trap-fishing. The Fish Commissioner of that State should make it his business to procure the arrest of parties violating the law, and the Sportsmen's Club will attend to the California end of the Lake. Steps have, we learn, been taken or are about to be taken, to put a stop to this wholesale destruction of the trout in the lake. Unless something is done at once to arrest parties violating the law, there will soon be a magnificent lake with no fish, and consequently it will lose half its attractions to tourists and visitors. They are literally killing the goose.

A BETTER FEELING.

A dispatch of the 6th from Virginia says: "The bonanza mines shipped eighty bars of bullion this evening valued at $328,888, and miscellaneous shipments from other mines swells the amount to $372,481. Some good developments are being made in the cross-drift of the 1900-foot level of the Ophir. Everything is being energetically pushed in all the leading mines, and since the rise many of the smaller mines have declared their intention of resuming work, and the outlook grows more encouraging every day. The Dayton paid off all back indebtedness to-day, and work will be resumed at once."

The Elko Post thinks the New York Times is in a hurry about civil service reform. Just wait awhile. There are the Southern troubles, the Mexican affairs, boisterous about the currency question, and numerous other little matters that require a liberal share of attention. But with these disposed of, an evil which has fastened itself upon the vitals of the nation during thirty years, cannot be eradicated in one year, nor even in four. Let Hayes alone. He will do all that is possible. It is so much easier to criticize than to do. Many a person now finding fault and brazenly proclaiming how this should be done or why it should not occur, would utterly and ignominiously fail if charged with the multitudinous cares and weighty responsibilities of the Presidential office.

GENERAL N. B. FORREST wrote that his health was too poor to permit his attendance at the Union and Confederate soldiers' reunion in Chattanooga on Decoration Day, but that his heart would be with them, and that he hopes the day will soon come when we shall know no North, no South, but be a united and happy people. Would that the entire Country was such a Forrest!

THE EAST BONANZA.—Last night, says the Virginia Chronicle of yesterday, the diamond drill hole which tapped the big body of water in the Gould and Curry 1700 foot level was unplugged. Pump connection was made to the sump below the 1700-foot level, and the water coming in is easily handled. The hole is two inches in diameter and is running full at a considerable pressure. Since the water was allowed to run the pump has been working 2 one fifth strokes per minute, on a 7 1/2 stroke; so if necessary, a much larger quantity of water could be handled without trouble. Drifting east in the cross-cut where the water was first struck has been resumed, and before long the great problem of the "East Bonanza" will be solved.

THE V. & T. R. R. "COMMERCIAL SYSTEM."—D. O. Mills and others who own the Virginia and Truckee railroad, have timber of their own to sell, consequently they put up the price of lumber shipped from Truckee to $70 a car load from Reno. This cuts off all competition from the mill men on the Truckee, and enables Mills & Co. to supply the Comstock at big prices. That's the way it goes everywhere. Why grumble at it? Is it not a part of our commercial system?—Placer Argus.

TELEGRAPHIC MELANGE.

MOST IMPORTANT ITEMS IN YESTERDAY'S DISPATCHES.

Hayes' Views of Our Bonds.

NEW YORK, June 18.—A Times Washington special says that President Hayes told a trusted and valued friend recently that in his opinion all bonds and greenbacks issued prior to the demonetization of silver in 1873 are payable either in gold or silver coin.

Sunday Pleasures in New York.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The beggars from town yesterday was almost unprecedented. The weather was beautiful and the steamers to all the country resorts were crowded. One of the Rockaway boats broke her shaft and had to be towed to town, arriving with her half-famished guests at 11 o'clock in the evening. The Eighth Ward coterie got into a riot and bottles and other weapons were freely used. Many heads were broken but there were no fatalities. An unusual amount of drunkenness was noticeable.

Molly Maguires to Swing.

HARRISBURG, June 16.—The Board of Pardons, after a session lasting from 9 o'clock Saturday evening until 12:30 Sunday morning, refusing to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment, in the cases of the convicted Molly Maguires sentenced to be hanged Thursday next.

Much excitement prevails here over the decision of the Board of Pardons, adverse to the prisoners, in the cases of the six Molly Maguires sentenced to be hanged here Thursday. Curiosity is manifested as to whether the men will be hanged separately or all together. The Sheriff has provided a gallows large enough to hang seven. Nearly 100 applications have already been received from correspondents and journalists to be allowed to witness the execution and over a hundred doctors from abroad have applied for admission to the spectacle.

General Grant

EDINBURGH, June 18.—The Scotsman says that General Grant, on his return from the continent, will spend some days at the residence of the Lord Provost of Glasgow.

Dr. Lindermann Coming.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Dr. Lindermann, Director of the Mint, will leave here for San Francisco on Monday, to be present at and superintend the counting of bullion at the annual settlement of the San Francisco Mint, which takes place at the close of the present fiscal year.

The London Consulate.

NEW YORK, June 18.—A Times special says ex Congressman Dockery of North Carolina told some of his friends that he has been promised the appointment of the Consul General to London in place of Badeau, who has held the office eight years. Whether his expectations be realized or not, it appears certain that Badeau will not hold the position much longer. A change would probably have been made before had it not been the wish of the Administration to oblige Gen. Grant by leaving his personal friend and old staff officer undisturbed until after he had completed his visit to England.

Indian Troubles in Oregon.

PORTLAND, June 18.—A dispatch from Walla Walla says the stage which arrived there from Lewiston brought news that the soldiers from Lapwai and the Indians have fought about 13 miles from Cottonwood Creek. Young Joseph and one squaw were killed during the fight. The Indians killed six soldiers. Cottonwood is the point where Ben Norton was killed, as previously reported.

France and Papacy.

BERLIN, June 17.—The ministerial organ, the North German Gazette, contains another article about the relations between the Papacy and the French Monarchical party. It says: "The latter being unable to dispense with clerical assistance for the attainment of its domestic purposes, such assistance will not be given unless important counter services are rendered. The Pope, who recently denounced Germany as the corner-stone of a new and ugly division of power in Europe, may soon have a million and a half of French soldiers at his disposal."

England and Russia.

LONDON, June 18.—Relations between Russia and England are of the most critical kind, short of actual war. The two countries stand on the very verge of hostilities, and the slightest incident might at any time precipitate a conflict. Ever since the Crimean war has the position been of such peculiar difficulty, though the relative strength and influence of Russia and England have changed very materially since that period.

Expelled.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The class of 1880 of Princeton College, numbering nearly 100 young men has been suspended and required to leave town by noon to-day. The cause is bulldozing the faculty.

War With China.

LONDON, June 17.—A special from Calcutta says that the news from Kashgar seems to show that the Ameer is getting the better of the Chinese in Eastern Turkestan, and refers to the probability of peace only on the basis of China officially recognizing the independence of Kashgar.

Earthquake.

PANAMA, June 9.—The Chilian Times of May 16th reports that south of Valparaiso there was no loss of life or destruction of property by the recent earthquake. Between Valparaiso and the Bolivian frontier the shocks were more severe. At Antofagasta, in Bolivia, no lives were lost, but the damage to property is estimated at half a million. It is said that the towns of Celama, Chichia and San Pedro have entirely disappeared.

THEN AND NOW.—One year since prescriptions were from 75 cents to six dollars. To-day the same class of prescriptions range from 25 cents to three dollars. This unexampled reduction in price being caused by the establishing of Hoole's Pharmacy, whose successful opposition to imposition and extortion places the establishment in the front rank of family drug stores and the leading prescription store of our town being an ample reward for our honest endeavors in the interest of the public and the building up of a trade based upon fair and legitimate profits. Thanking the discriminating public for their liberal patronage we solicit its continuance and pledge perfect satisfaction to all. S. F. HOOLE.*

Murder in the First Degree.

Last Saturday night at 11 o'clock, the jury in the celebrated case of The State vs. J. W. Rover, for the murder of I. N. Sharp in Humboldt county over two years ago, retired to the jury room to determine on a verdict.

We, the jury in the case wherein the State of Nevada is plaintiff and J. W. Rover defendant, find defendant guilty of murder in the first degree, as charged in the indictment.

When Rover was informed of the verdict he remarked, "Well, if it doesn't affect other people more than it does me, they will all eat a hearty breakfast," which he immediately proceeded to do.

District Court.

Yesterday morning District Court was called to order at 10 o'clock, by His Honor, S. H. Wright, in the chair, and the following business transacted:

GLIDING THROUGH GERMANY.

The Panoramic view of Germany which one gets as he glides through it during one whole day, on his way to Munich, from the French frontier, leaves an impression which is not pleasant upon the mind. The country seems to be in an abnormal condition. Everywhere, at every small station and large railway station, the clank of wheels, the jingle of spurs salute the ear; and the bowing and posturing of the officers afflict the eye. To a stranger it looks as if the whole land were in a state of siege. The chief of the station wears jack boots and a red cap; the employees are all in military uniforms; the officers and soldiers are innumerable. Where are the men in the fields and in the factories—the men who form the real force and glory of the country? One looks for them in vain. The factories do not appear, except in the largest towns; the women struggle painfully in the fields, while the men are away in garrison. Will this never change? There seems little prospect of it at present. The women bear their burdens uncomplainingly, but it looks to an outside observer very much as if they were carrying the whole absurd and unnatural military system on their backs, and as if, with it, Germany would have but a very brief existence as a military power.

The perpetual fear of each other born of a system of mutual hostility, which prevails among European powers, causes just as many annoyances as ever in travel. Passengers going into Prussia, or through to Austria, in the sleeping cars, are aroused at the frontier by the French commissioner of police, who requires a visiting card and looks at you as if he suspected you of designs on his poultry yard. Then the train goes on a little farther, and every one has to descend and file through a Prussian custom house at Deutsch Altona. This formality is suitably pleasing to strangers who were peacefully sleeping in their beds—I use peacefully as a figure of speech, without any reference to the capers of the sleeping car—and who are thus deprived of any chance to sleep more until the midnight following.

At Strasbourg the Prussians continue to pile up fortifications, and that is about all. They have done comparatively little to embellish the city; they enjoy tearing down better than building up. Over the Rhine at Kehl, more fortifications; the helmeted men marching in the roadway or silently practicing with artillery by the side of fortresses, or making packhorses of themselves, carrying forage and clothing. It seems as if Prussia was everywhere now-a-days; in hidden the spiked helmet is seen, in Wurtemberg it starts up suddenly upon one from the midst of the moss grown villages, and is the only thing one meets with in the latter country, unless it be some of the villainously ugly modern architecture of Stuttgart, which reminds one of the present. The villages, which are generally in the neighborhood of some picturesque hills on which the industrious peasantry have dug terraces where they yearly cultivate the vine, are wonderfully quaint; the church often seems to be leaning a procession of graves, a squat-sided, blinking, shambling houses through the fields in the same monstrously impressive manner in which a Wurtemberg gander leads his geese afield. There are so many of these villages with the church leading off in the comic solemn march that I cannot refrain from considering the ludicrous comparison very just. Wurtembergers are mighty lovers of the gentle goose; that downy bird is seen everywhere, sorely perambulating, regardless of the love of his master for liver pie, and bent only on picking up an honest living. The towns are very numerous, and it seems as if the many inhabitants must find it rather hard to find that living which the geese so actively search for. The strength of the country is drained away into the armies, and the weak only are left to till the soil. In Bavaria it is the same. Men strut in uniform, but alas! there are not many of them in the fields. Among the laborers who kneel beside the wayside crosses at evening, after the day's work is done, only a small number are men. The women, bare-headed, bronze-browed, lift up their hands and pray for the absent—for the absent who ought to stay at home and support them.—Corr. Boston Journal.
